Your introduction to the web

What is eStarter?

eStarter is your introduction to the Internet.

Your website is your shop window and a badly designed site can often do more harm than good. With eStarter you can be confident that your website is being built by expert web designers, but more importantly a technology provider that knows your industry, your market and your business.

eStarter provides you with a project managed web design and basic hosting facility that enables your business to get online, publicising your products and services to a worldwide audience.

A combination of extensive web knowledge and the latest in online technology provides you with the first step to realising your online potential.

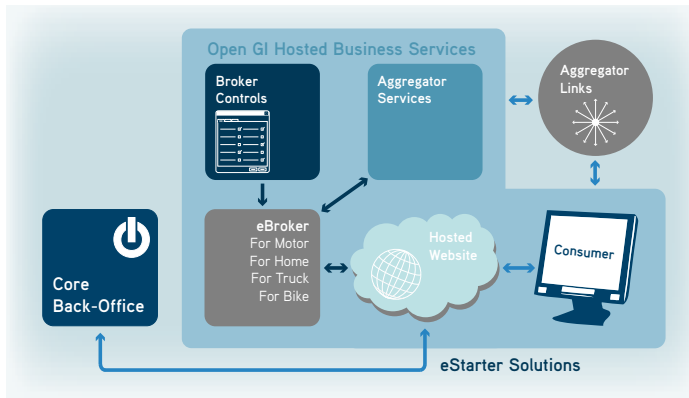

BENEFITS

- 1 Simple first step into e-commerce
- 2 Place your products in front of a worldwide audience
- 3 Access a team of web design experts, who know your business and the industry
- 4 Consistent style and imagery to support your corporate branding
- 5 Full integration with your existing IT systems
- 6 Easily integrates with additional e-commerce solutions
- 7 The latest online technology supporting your business
- 8 Remove management headaches by using a single supplier
- 9 Websites built with expansion in mind

How it all works?

The deployment consists of up to ten pages of brochure copy and images, packaged into the overall brand image of your website.

You brief our design team who translate your ideas into web pages to bring together an online catalogue that publicises your business, your products and any specialist services. Once built, we also take care of all your hosting needs.

What can it do for me?

It is really simple. Above all, this is an easy step into e-commerce. No matter what business you are in, the consensus is you need an online presence.

eStarter provides a simple way for your business to build and maintain a website without needing to commit any of your existing resources.

With all the support of Open GI you are dealing with experts that you know and can trust.
